Alterations to existing house.
Project value: R50 000
Architect: Hannah le Roux
Engineering: John Munday
Contractor: John Luyt and owner

This tiny project added a small, largely indeterminate space to my house. It faces the garden and resolves the difficulty of a house with an existing kitchen on the north. The L shaped sliding doors and windows can be opened in different configurations, and along with the mobile, folding table, allow for winter/summer, indoor/outdoor, public/private variations of eating or just working in this stoep.
