3. PLATFORM AND CONTENT

The platform

Blackbullion is a digital financial literacy platform designed in the UK specifically for university students and adapted here in South Africa for local students and youth.

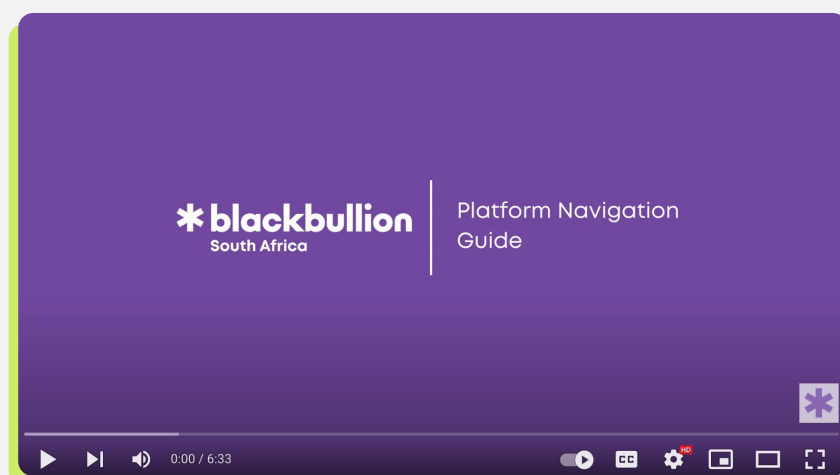

In order to log into the platform, you'll need your device (phone, tablet or computer) and a stable internet connection. Try as much as possible to access via a WiFi connection to ensure the best user experience.

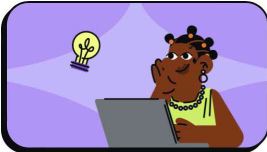

Navigating around the platform and engaging with the content is fun and easy. You'll find your way around in no time!

Just in case you need an extra bit of help, we made a quick intro video to help you get used to some of the features and functionality in the platform.

Check it out here.

There's loads of great content on the platform and we have developed a number of modules with content designed specifically for South African users. Many of these modules have been adapted to relate to your experience as a South African.
