

Are you...

an artist, architect, urban
designer, engineer,
musician, data scientist,
geographer, sociologist?

interested in working as part of an interdisciplinary creative team to interrogate
and re-imagine the city of Johannesburg?

The Wits School of Architecture and Planning is hosting a creative urban exchange between young urban professionals from Johannesburg and São Paulo to re-imagine and represent an alternative Johannesburg, culminating in a creative output. Setting the stage for possible future knowledge exchange processes.

The process will involve an initial digital meeting followed by a week-long physical engagement process that will include daily group work field trips and lab work in Johannesburg. The partners from São Paulo will bring insights from their urban contexts and you will share your rich experiences and knowledge.

All transport and food will be organised and you will receive a small daily stipend.

If you are interested in being involved, submit a short motivation of interest and CV by 6th July 2022

Andries Jabulani Mkatshwa: andries@stickysituations.org

Hayley Gewer: hayley@stickysituations.org

Jennifer van den Bussche: jennifer@stickysituations.org