ENGAGE South Africa

Union Rights, Policy and Practice: Training for Global Union Activists

Short Course Training Programme Open to Trade Unionists
and Labour Activists Globally

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FOR 2025

Workers in both the formal and informal economies as well as trade unions are faced with rapid economic and social change. As yet, adequate regulatory and protective frameworks have not been found to meet the challenges imposed by the varying forces of globalisation. The current world economic and health crises, exacerbated by the global COVID-19 pandemic, urgently requires the development of alternative policies and rules based on universal human rights, international social justice and democratic self-determination. However, to turn these policies and rules into reality a strong voice representing the interests of workers is needed.

ENGAGE helps labour activists and trade unionists to acquire additional knowledge and tools enabling them to take an active part in public debate and the process of policy formulation and implementation. The Certificate Course, made up of six modules, constitutes the core of the activities of ENGAGE. The cause of the decade-long decline in the wage share and the requirements for a wage-led recovery path will be discussed and analysed during the training. The participants will jointly develop strategies to enforce decent work conditions along cross-national chains of production and to regulate financial markets in a way that promotes fair globalisation and inclusive societies.

The topics covered in the course include:

- Global Governance
- Global Wage Policy and Finance
- Labour and Development
- Society and Development
- Trade Union Capacity Building
- Research Project

Target Group

Participation of labour activists and trade unionists from Africa, Asia, South and North America and Europe makes the ENGAGE training programme a truly unique international experience that offers new opportunities for global networking.

ENGAGE is part of the Global Labour University (GLU) network that has successfully established academic study opportunities for labour activists from Africa, Asia, South and North America and Europe. It aims to strengthen the intellectual and strategic capacity of workers and their organisations and fostering stronger working relationships among trade unions. Courses are taught by experienced teaching staff from the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg, and other guest lecturers.

Practical Considerations:

Certification: Upon successful completion of the training programme, participants will receive a short-course certificate of competence. Participants must attend the entire course to be eligible for certification.

Classes: The course will run from 01 September to 24 October 2025 at the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg, South Africa. For successful applicants who have been granted scholarships, arrivals at Wits University are expected on 30 August. Graduation is set for 23 October; therefore, return flights should be booked for some time from 26-29 October 2025.

Practical Research Project: Participants will conduct a group research project during the last two weeks of the programme.

Financing and Scholarships:

The ENGAGE course receives support from the Friedrich Ebert Stiftung Trade Union Competence Centre for Sub-Saharan Africa (FES TUCC) and the Trade Union Solidarity Centre of Finland (SASK). There are a limited number of scholarships for accepted applicants from Africa, Asia and South America. Not all who are accepted can be funded.

The scholarship covers the following:

- University short course administrative costs
- Accommodation
- Tuition fees at the University of the Witwatersrand

Day-to-day living and travel expenses are the responsibility of the participants and their organisations. Flights and/or travel costs to and from Johannesburg, South Africa have to be paid for by the participants or an organisation on their behalf.

Estimated costs, which are subject to change, if the participant is NOT covered by the scholarship:

Accommodation	R30,000.00 (for two months)
Tuition Fees	R8,820.00
Living Expenses	R5,000.00 (per month)

Please note: These are estimated South African Rand (ZAR) costs for the duration of the ENGAGE course as of July 2024 and are subject to change.*
