In certain qualifications, a student may be allowed to change his or her curriculum with the consent of the Dean. Such consent may be obtained through the Faculty Office usually within the first two weeks of the first term.

GI.2

Before a student can present himself or herself for examination in a course, he or she must have participated satisfactorily in the work of the class in that course. The onus is on the student to acquaint himself or herself with the requirements of the relevant school/department/discipline.

GI.3

Students should note that in the event of their failing subjects at the end of an academic year, readmission to the relevant course of study for the following academic year is not automatic. While cases are examined on their merits, participation in extra-curricular activities will not be accepted as an excuse for poor academic performance.

GI.4 Examinations

The provisional examination timetable will be available six weeks before the start of the exams on the website <http://www.wits.ac.za/exams/exam-timetables/>. If permission is granted, the examination may immediately follow the examination session and may take the form of an oral examination.

A student may not use a cellular telephone or smart watch during an examination.
